Lunar new year holidays usually lead to fewer working days in the first quarter of each year, while global shortage of containers still affected Fulgent Sun’ s shipment schedules. However, sales of 2021 1Q still hit a historical high, appearing to a positive industry growth trend and showing the group’ s operating and orders taking abilities are superior to before.

Fulgent Sun holds an optimistic prospect and values consumers’ growing awareness on outdoor leisure and activities due to COVID-19. Given that orders of mass production are well allocated and production capacity increases, and with the additional energy accumulated from the group’ s various investments and layouts in 2020, rewards are expected to display substantially in 2021 and the coming years. The group’ s growth momentum seems robust in operation and management.
