

Fulgent Sun: Operating revenue for May 2026 amounted to NT$1.60 billion. Accumulated operating revenue for the first five months of 2026 reached NT$6.91 billion (slight YoY -3.33%).

2026/06/08, Douliu, Yunlin

Fulgent Sun International (Holding) Co., Ltd. (Fulgent Sun, TWSE: 9802) today announced its consolidated operating revenue for May 2026 was NT$1.60 billion. Currently, our production is focused on the Autumn/Winter 2026 footwear collection. Based on past trends, June and July typically represent peak shipping months. Although May's output value exceeded that of April, it saw a slight MoM decline of 2.24%, primarily due to shipping schedule arrangements and customer-specified delivery dates.

Accumulated operating revenue for the first five months of 2026 reached NT$6.91 billion, representing a temporary YoY decline (due to the high base effect from May 2025, which recorded the year's highest monthly revenue). However, given the gradual rollout of new production capacity and new brand customers, the outlook for positive growth in "total output value" for the full year of 2026 compared to 2025 remains unchanged. Although the global economic and industrial landscape remains fraught with uncertainty, and our actual profit performance will ultimately depend on a variety of objective and subjective factors, the management team will continue to build upon the operational foundation established over the past three decades, remain focused on our core business, and uphold our commitment to excellence.
